You may have seen in the media that after nearly 40 years of pioneering work in Fair Trade, Traidcraft is going through a consultation process and, unless a solution is found, will cease trading at the end of the year. This will have world wide implications for the producers Traidcraft buys from, the UK staff and Fairtraders like myself. However, at present I am carrying on as usual. A big thank you to all who buy from Traidcraft. I hope you will be spurred on to do so through the Autumn and Christmas seasons because the better the sales in the run up to Christmas, the more sure the foundations for Traidcraft as they look to the future. An Autumn catalogue is available now and a Christmas one next month. If you would like a copy or more details on the situation then please contact me. Judith 553025
